

Health Insurance Marketplace

Time is running out to apply for a Marketplace health plan

There's still time to apply and enroll in a health plan through the Health Insurance Marketplace for 2017, but time is running out. January 31 is your last chance to enroll for 2017 coverage. Act now to enroll in a quality health plan for 2017.

Don't wait – apply today

To apply, visit HealthCare.gov/get-coverage/ and select your state. You can preview and compare 2017 health insurance plans and prices before you apply, and you'll see what benefits each plan covers. This will be helpful if you have specific health care needs. Compare plans based on what's important to you, and choose the combination of price and coverage that fits your needs and budget. Remember, most people qualify for financial help with their premium costs.

Already have a 2016 Marketplace plan? You should still compare plans and prices for 2017.

If you already have a Marketplace plan, you still have options. Many people with 2016 coverage were automatically enrolled in their current plan or a similar plan so they continued to have coverage on January 1. Even if you were automatically enrolled, you can still change plans and find out if you qualify for new or different help with costs until January 31, 2017. Visit HealthCare.gov and log into your account to compare 2017 health plans and prices to your current coverage, update your application with any household or income changes, and change plans. New and more affordable health plans may be available this year, so don't miss out on savings for 2017.

Want help or need more information?

If you have questions about the Health Insurance Marketplace, visit HealthCare.gov or call the Marketplace Call Center toll-free at 1-800-318-2596. TTY users should call 1-855-889-4325. Tell the customer service representative if you need help in a language other than English. You can also visit Localhelp.HealthCare.gov to find help in your area.